Map Analysis
Chicago Immigrants and Child Mortality

Directions: Look at two of the maps posted at http://www.uic.edu/jaddams/hull/urbanexp, the one showing where immigrant groups settled and the one showing the incidents of child mortality (i.e., death).

What immigrants' settlement areas (neighborhoods) are identified?
1.
2.
3.
4.
5.

Which of these groups dominated the southwestern part of Chicago, where the Union Stockyards were located?

Which area of Chicago appears to have experienced the highest rate of child mortality during the end of the 19th century?

What conditions may have led to these deaths?

Do these same conditions exist in the United States today? If so, where?
